CPHI Japan 2022

It has been an unusual two years for everyone, in every industry – including pharma. CPHI Japan also had to adapt to the realities of a global pandemic while still offering a platform to meet, connect, and drive business forward. We achieved this in part by developing and enhancing our online solutions and taking the in-person events over to our online space.

Successful in-person event

We did manage to schedule and execute an in-person event which had to be very localized to accommodate for travel restrictions. Despite the challenges posed by the pandemic, we did see more than 6,000 attendees participate at the in-person event, and we even received limited international visitors.

Looking ahead to 2023, we are confident that open borders and greater travel flexibility mean our next event will be very well attended – we expect all our overseas participants to attend and hope for CPHI Japan 2023 to return to pre-pandemic attendance figures. We also offer a fully integrated online and in-person approach to all our events allowing you greater access to the global supply chain all year round.

Your gateway to the Japanese pharma market

You may have noticed that since hosting CPHI Japan 2022, we have refreshed our branding. To give you a clearer more integrated service, CPHI has evolved the brand structure to unite our in-person and online events into one continuous platform.

Hosting large pharma in-person events that empower you to connect with suppliers and source new products, is still at the core of our business. Only now, you'll be able to carry on these conversations and develop opportunities online long after the floor show has ended. The new branding can be experienced on our website and in-person at CPHI Japan 2023.
